LITTLE, BROWN & COMPANY, - Boston, Mass.

Two men, not related, but looking absolutely alike—one married, the other a bachelor—secretly change places. The novel develops along lines new to fiction, and is a forceful, compelling story; not a story of style and words, but a story of doing, a history of life in action. The moral problem involved is a strange one.

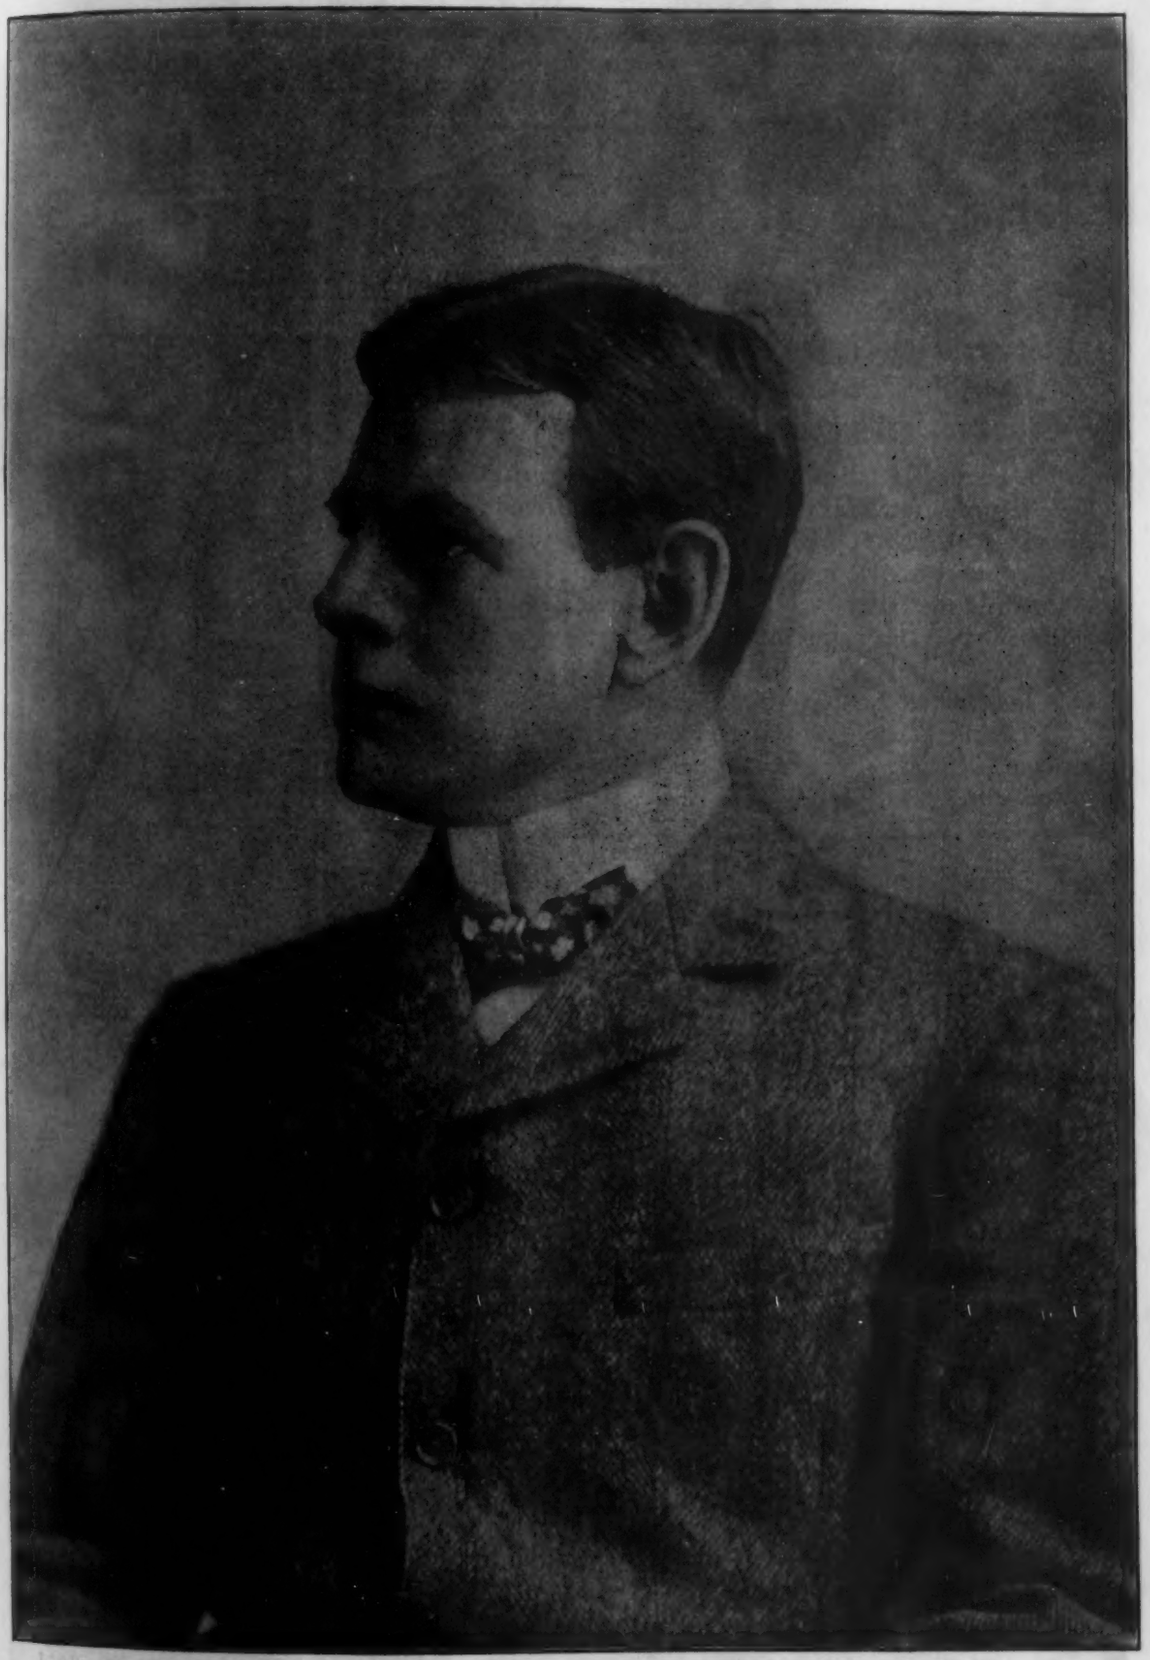

A CURIOUS LETTER

To the Editor of Harper's Bazar: August 3, 1904.

"You may, and I hope you have, some little remembrance of my name. But this will be the very oddest letter you have ever received. I am reading that most clever and wonderfully well written novel, 'The Masquerader.' I have very serious heart trouble, and may live years —and may die any minute. I should deeply regret going without knowing the general end of that story. May I know it? Will be as close as the grave itself if I may. I really feel that I may not live to know the unravelling of that net. If I may not know it for reasons good and sufficient to yourself and by no means necessary to explain, may I please have the numbers as they come to you, and in advance of the general delivery? I congratulate you on the story—it is to my mind the very best and most intensely interesting story I have read for many and many a year; indeed I cannot think of any book I ever read which held my attention so utterly. I have my own theory of the end. I think Loder is in some way the real Chilcote. . . . I just felt that (I have had so many troubles) it would be just my luck to die, and not to know the end."

The Editor of HARPER'S BAZAR was so much interested in the letter that the advance proofs of The Masquerader were sent to the lady.

NOW READY

The Book of Clever Beasts

Studies in Unnatural History

By MYRTLE REED, author of "Lavender and Old Lace," "The Master's Violin," etc. Fully illustrated by Peter Newell. 12mo. $1 50.

A humorous book, hitting off the many writers who have returned to Nature and made intimate friends in the Animal World. The author describes the superhuman intelligence to be found by the discerning among our kindred of the wild. All those who love gentle humor will be entertained by the whimsical story of "Little Upsidaisi," and no reader can fail to laugh at the antics of "Jagg, the Skootaway Goat."

The illustrations by Peter Newell are in this clever artist's happiest vein and bring out to the full the humor of the text.

"THE MARVELOUS LAND OF OZ" IN A SUPERB WINDOW DISPLAY

A book window so attractive and amusing to Sixth Avenue crowds that the Siegel & Cooper Co. allowed it to occupy a double window for two weeks. A similar window at The Wanamaker Store in Philadelphia at times blocked Chestnut Street. Dealers desiring to utilize the new Baum book in connection with a window display should write the publishers regarding special display matter. Don't fail to keep the book in stock.

MARIE CORELLI'S

NEW NOVEL

"In many respects the best story she has written."—N. Y. TIMES.

"It's the strongest piece of modern fiction that's been produced in a decade."

DODD, MEAD & COMPANY, PUBLISHERS, NEW YORK

"In 'The Grafters,' Francis Lynde's new novel, the real and tangible in modern life is shown in a kind of arc light illumination. 'The Pit' was not more genuinely a picture of America to-day; and there is nothing else in recent fiction to compare with 'The Grafters.'"

The Century Co.'s Books Ready Oct. 8

Presidential Problems

By GROVER CLEVELAND, Ex-President of the United States

This is just what the title and author's name would indicate—a clear, vigorous discussion of some of the vital questions which pressed upon Mr. Cleveland for settlement during his years in the White House. These include the Venezuela Boundary controversy, the Chicago riots, the Bond issue, and other actual crises which taxed the Executive's wisdom, judgment, and strength.

Octavo, 300 pages, $1.80 net; postage 16 cents

The Madigans

By MIRIAM MICHELSON, author of "In the Bishop's Carriage"

The Madigans are six of the most daring, active, original, and clever youngsters that ever stirred up a household. They, with their father and placid maiden aunt, are the characters in a story which promises to rival "In the Bishop's Carriage" in success. There are a large number of dashing and humorous illustrations by Orson Lowell.

12mo, 300 pages, $1.50

The Gray World

By EVELYN UNDERHILL

This is an unusual story, the remarkable narrative of a London slum child's reincarnation. How the memory of the "gray world" influenced all his second existence is well told. It is all clever and is in many places distinctly humorous.

12mo, 350 pages, $1.50

Paths of Judgement

By ANNA DOUGLAS SEDGWICK

Author of "The Rescue," etc.

A book of intense dramatic quality. It intimately connects the lives of four people, in two of whom—the naive and unconventional heroine and the self-contained hero—the reader early develops a close and lasting interest.

12mo, 346 pages, $1.50

The Youth of Washington

Told in the Form of an Autobiography

By Dr. S. WEIR MITCHELL

Author of "Hugh Wynne," "Circumstances," etc.

A new form of historical fiction, combining the interest of authentic autobiography with that of the historical novel. It is neither bald history nor pure fiction; the larger historic facts are true and the fiction a daring form of commentary. Dr. Mitchell imagines the great General sitting down at Mt. Vernon in his old age and recording the incidents and influences of his youth. Washington's diary and letters have been freely drawn upon. No one can read this wonderful narrative without obtaining a new and vivid sense of the personality of Washington.

HENRY SETON MERRIMAN'S THE LAST HOPE

THE ATHENAEUM (London) says:

"Looking back on his work one would say that 'The Last Hope' is one of his very best novels. It is not often given to a novelist to lay down the pen while at his highest."

THE GLOBE (New York) says:

"In artistic finish, in dramatic power, in sheer audacity, 'The Last Hope' is not merely the best of all Mr. Merriman's novels. It is the best story based on French history that has appeared in the last five years.

NOTES IN SEASON.

ROHDE & HASKINS announce that they have postponed until Saturday, October 15, the publication of "Toasts and Tributes," for which advance orders have necessitated a heavy extra printing.

MCCLURE, PHILLIPS & CO. announce that Anthony Hope's new novel, "Double Harness," owing to the large number of advance orders, cannot be brought out until the 10th inst.

DOUBLEDAY, PAGE & CO. issue this week "Traffics and Discoveries," Rudyard Kipling's new volume of collected stories, of which 10,000 were sold on day of publication; "Recollections and Letters of General Robert E. Lee;" "Camera Shots at Big Game," by Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Wallihan, with an introduction by President Roosevelt; and two new novels—"The Eagle's Shadow," by James Branch Cabell, and "The Hills of Freedom," by Joseph Sharts.

THE CENTURY COMPANY will issue to-day "Presidential Problems," by Grover Cleveland, a vigorous discussion of the Venezuela boundary, the Chicago riots, the bond issue and other crises which taxed his wisdom when Executive of the nation; "The Youth of Washington," told in the form of an autobiography by Dr. S. Weir Mitchell; "Thackeray's Letters to an American Family," with introduction by Lucy W. Baxter, and three novels: "The Madigans," by Miriam Michelson, author of "The Bishop's Carriage;" "The Gray World," by Evelyn B. Underhill; and "Paths of Judgment," by Anne Douglas Sedgwick, author of "The Rescue."

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have just ready an illustrated work on "Fetichism in West Africa," by the Rev. Dr. Robert Hamill Nassau. For forty years the author in the routine of mission life has gathered the material for this work, making the most exhaustive studies of the various practices of Fetich, in its relation to daily life, religion, government and theology, its practical effects on the people, and in the preparation and the classification of all the different varieties of Fetich in use. They will publish shortly Dr. Henry van Dyke's "Music and Other Poems," which contains, besides the "Ode to Music," perhaps the finest and most elevated of the author's sustained poems, the lyrical and other verse which for some years past has been establishing Dr. van Dyke's high place among American poets.

DODD, MEAD & CO. have ready to-day an important historical novel by Max Pemberton, entitled "Beatrice of Venice," which deals with the final surrender of Venice to Napoleon I. In history and biography are also ready the third volume of George Saintsbury's "A History of Criticism;" "The Correspondence of William Cowper," in four volumes, edited by Thomas Wright; "The League of the Iroquois," by Lewis Henry Morgan, thoroughly revised by Herbert M. Lloyd; and "Japan by the Japanese," articles by the best informed thinkers of Japan, compiled and edited by Alfred Stead. William Wallace Cook has in "Wilby's Dan" an interesting boy's book; and Carolyn Wells continues her story of "Patty Fairfield," who became so popular three years ago in "Patty at Home," a book most suitable for wideawake girls.

Douglas, Amanda Minnie. A little girl in old Chicago. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1904. [S.] c. 4+324 p. il. D. (Little girl ser.) cl., †$1.50.

During the administration of Jackson is the opening period of this story; it goes down to the great fire in Chicago. The "little girl" comes all the way to old Chicago from old Massachusetts, in a great covered wagon, with her father. She is a pretty, fair-haired girl of seven or eight, who knows no other home but Chicago for years to come. Through her eyes, and a young man's, her playfellow in her youthful days, and her lover in later days, we see the growth of the great western city, learn of its politics and other points of interest. The "little girl's" career is enlivened by a trip to Europe, and she comes back to see Chicago rise from its ruins, after the great fire.

Describes the really important things to be seen in Rome in the limits of a brief visit. It is not as barren as a guide book, nor as discursive as an essay, but is helpful in showing what is most worthy of appreciation in the most interesting city of the world. The first volume deals with natural scenery, monuments and architecture; the second chiefly with churches and galleries. Profusely illustrated with reprints of well-known paintings and sculpture.

The sea-wolves are the great historic pirates from Barbarossa down, who for nearly 300 years were the terror of Spain, Italy, Sicily, England and all their dependencies. Their first ventures were directed against Spain, chiefly in revenge for its terrible rule of the Inquisition. The author follows history closely and makes an instructive and fascinating book especially for boys.

Gass's narrative was for seven years the only source from which any authentic knowledge of the Lewis and Clark expedition could be obtained. When at last the work based on the diaries of the captains was given to the world, the earlier book, so far from being set aside, was found to be most important as confirming and supplementing what had been set down by the leaders, and, in fact, has not ceased to be held in high estimation up to the present moment. Unfortunately the original jottings of the old sergeant are no longer extant, the book as it stands having been shaped and trimmed by D: McKechan, a frontier schoolmaster. The preparation, however, was done under the supervision of Gass, and there is no doubt that as regards the events described there has been no variation from the truth.

Hawkins, Rev. C. J. The mind of Whittier. N. Y., T: Whittaker, 1904. c. 114 p. D. cl., 80 c. net.

The author is minister of First Congregational church of Spencer, Mass. He studies Whittier as a reformer more than as artist or poet and dwells specially on his spiritual message that comforted and inspired human hearts. He points out that the only one motive behind all Whittier's work was to lift the fallen and right human wrongs. He thinks no one poet is oftener quoted than Whittier. He dwells upon his inner light, his optimism, his religion and humanity, his love of nature and his beliefs about the future life. Gives a true picture of the Quakers of the second quarter of the century.

Henty, G: Alfred. By conduct and courage: a story of Nelson's days; il. by W: Rainey. N. Y., Scribner, 1904. [S.] 5+381 p. D. cl., $1 net.

This story was completed just before Mr. Henty died in November, 1902. It is therefore the last one we shall have from him. The young hero has been brought up in a Yorkshire fishing village, and enters the English navy as a ship's boy. The time is in the glorious days of Parker and Nelson, and the boy soon has an opportunity of distinguishing himself and getting his promotion to midshipman. He is in fights with Moorish pirates, who carry him a slave to Algeria, but escapes and has a thrilling experience in Corsica with Admiral Nelson himself.

Huntington, H. S., (pseud.) His Majesty's sloop Diamond Rock. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1904. [O.] c. 7+431 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

A narrative of adventure founded on an incident of West Indian history. The young hero is an English midshipman, and the other characters are mostly naval men. Diamond Rock is a real rock in the ocean off the coast of Martinique. In 1802-03 the English fleet, under Commodore Hood, was blockading this French island, and, as an adjunct to the blockade, Hood seized and fortified the rock, which was put in commission as a sloop-of-war. This historical incident is the framework of a boy's adventures—a boy who has a tendency to get into scrapes.

The story takes place in a prosperous elm-shaded American town. Two close friends, partners in a law firm, each write a novel, one to win the girl who has promised to be his when he has achieved a name by his own efforts, the other, fired by true genius and inspired by the presence of the same girl. The latter is injured by a train and totally loses his memory. His friend, in possession of the manuscript, publishes his story, signed with the letter "D" and for a time achieves reputation throughout the land. A close psychological study of motives and characters, and the unexpected conclusion give originality to the romance.

A story that tells why the Farm of the Dagger in the Dartmoor Country, England, had remained uninhabited for so many years and had gained the reputation of being haunted. It dates back to 1813, and includes among other scenes life on board an English naval ship, and in the English war prison at Prince Town, from which an American prisoner escapes and helps forward the story. Two old farmers, between whom a bitter enmity exists, with the daughter of one and the nephew of the other, are the chief characters. The feud between the older people grows to intense hatred, resulting in cruel deeds of revenge, which come near spoiling the lives of the young people, who love each other.

Most of the incidents of the novel are the outcome of one of the deadly feuds so common in the mountainous districts of Kentucky and Tennessee. The hero, a young doctor, returns to Brettville after attaining his degree, and immediately distinguishes himself by killing two of the foes of his race. He is later made coroner of his native village, and his life thereafter is devoted to the interests of the warring mountaineers; his efforts to establish peace in their midst finally ends in a tragedy.

Taylor, Bert Leston. The well in the wood; with il. by F. Y. Cory. Indianapolis, Ind., Bobbs-Merrill Co., [1904. S.] c. 7+191 p. D. cl., †$1.25.

While playing in the woods of the wild northland a little girl finds a cluster of flowers belonging to the Circœa Alpina species (enchanter's nightshade). She places the magical flowers in her hair, and at once falls under the spell of their enchantment; hereafter all the animals she meets while in quest of an enchanted well are after the fashion of "Alice in wonderland," endowed with speech. Their sayings are so apt that they will amuse older people almost as much as they do the children for whom they are quoted.

Ward, Wilfrid Aubrey de Vere: a memoir, based on his unpublished diaries and correspondence. N. Y., Longmans, Green & Co., 1904. 9+428 p. il. pors. O. cl., *$4.60 net.

Aubrey de Vere belonged to the first half of the nineteenth century. He was known as a poet and a man of remarkable mental gifts; his diaries and letters comprise interesting detail of many celebrated men and women of his time, among whom are Wordsworth, Tennyson, Carlyle, Browning and Cardinal Newman.

Warner, Anne, [Mrs. Anne Warner French.] Susan Clegg and her friend Mrs. Lathrop. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1904. c. '03, '04. 4+207 p. il. D. cl., †$1.

The first four chapters of this work appeared in the Century Magazine as separate stories during the past year under the titles of "The marrying of Susan Clegg," "Miss Clegg's adopted," "Jathrop Lathrop's cow," and "Susan Clegg's Cousin Marion." "The minister's vacation," never before printed, has been added. Both Susan Clegg and Mrs. Lathrop are original creations, representing keen humor in their delineation and racy fun.

A tale of the American Civil War. The American merchant navy plays an important part. The plot specially brings out how intricately involved were the interests of North and South and what hard moral battles were fought by strong men while they were judged alternately on circumstantial evidence as traitor or loyalist.

Wells, Carolyn. Patty at home. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1904. [S.] c. 6+295 p. il. D. cl., †$1.25.

Another chapter in the life of Patty Fairfield. Patty was one of the most fortunate girls of Vernondale. She not only had a rich and loving father, but one quite ready to allow her to live in New York or Vernondale, and buy a house wherever she settles to dwell. Vernondale is her choice, the story going into the many delightful details of the furnishing of the home, the engaging of servants, the entertaining of friends, the "tea" given to the Tea Club, of which Patty is president, the play at which she assists, her friendship with a Columbia student, with many other charming events.

Wells, Herbert G: The food of the gods and how it came to earth. N. Y., Scribner, 1904. [S.] c. 5+329 p. D. cl., †$1.50.

As usual, a deep philosophy underlies the author's extravagant imaginations. Two scientists discover the principle of growth and manufacture a chemical substance that makes kittens, puppies, sunflowers, mushrooms, chickens and babies grow. But they cannot stop the process and become absolutely helpless in a world of useless giant products. Learned discussions full of irony and also of cheerful humor are given on scientists, their ideals and their discoveries which so often are beyond their grasp to control and make useful for the real life of the world. The necessity of spiritual insight to direct material conditions is the keynote of a romance that hinges on an allegory.

BIBLIOGRAPHIC NOTES.

THE SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTION, Washington, D. C., has just brought out the second supplement to the "Select Bibliography of Chemistry, 1492-1902," by the late Henry Carrington Bolton. The original work was published in 1893; the first supplement, published in 1899, brought the literature down to the close of the year 1897. The present supplement continues the subject five years later, to the close of the year 1902; in it are preserved the same subdivisions adopted in the main work, and it includes addition to Section VIII., Academic Dissertations, which was published separately in 1901. No attempt has been made to index books and periodicals, as this is accomplished in the International Catalogue of Scientific Literature, directed by the Royal Society, London. Dr. Bolton died November 19, 1903, while this work was in press, and most of the proofreading, as well as the preparing of the index, was done by Axel Moth, of the New York Public Library. (Smithsonian Miscellaneous Collections, part of v. xliv. 462 p. O.)

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

SUGGESTION VS. ADVICE IN SELLING.*

IT is a peculiar trait of human nature that while most people are ready enough at all times and under all circumstances to give advice, few think they are in need of it, and resent the very imputation that they might profit by it. A salesman, above all a commercial traveller, must therefore study closely how to discriminate between advising and suggesting. Advice, especially if given unasked, is apt to be regarded as arrogance; and frequently it amounts to such, inasmuch as the salesman takes it upon himself to give counsel to the buyer, thereby arrogating to himself a superior knowledge—always offensive to the buyer, who not unnaturally may retort with, "What do you mean by coming here to teach me my business? Don't I know best what to buy and what to 'turn down,'" etc.

Possibly the buyer is wrong; but whether he is right or wrong, the traveller must strictly guard against saying or doing the slightest thing that could be construed into an attempt to teach the man his business. Every one thinks that he knows best how to conduct his own affairs, or how to run his department; and as some men are supersensitive on this point, the act of advising may profitably be discarded in favor of the milder and more acceptable mode of suggestion. To insinuate an idea by indirect association is a more agreeable operation than trying to knock that idea into a customer's head with a hammer. The line of demarcation between advice and suggestion is sufficiently broad to be noticeable, and he who strictly observes it will run little risk of ruffling a sensitive client.

Indecision on a buyer's part is one of the most common—though none the less formidable—obstacles to making sales against which a traveller must contend. Especially is this the case in presenting new lines. Judicious promptings and tactful suggestions will no doubt assist a buyer to the point of ordering; and yet a sale may not be effected because of the buyer's inability to make up his mind definitely as to quantities and proportions. Here the temptation is to "play off" one customer against another by quoting the quantities already sold to the buyer's competitors. In most cases of which we have knowledge we have found that "comparisons are odious," and that quoting the purchases of one buyer to another more often defeats the object aimed at than it helps to reach it. Where there is any doubt in the buyer's mind it will be the better policy for the salesman to assist his customer to make up his mind definitely on a trial order on new lines rather than to push him to "the limit." In pushing old lines it will be helpful if the salesman can produce his record of the quantities ordered of a given book since it was first brought out. A buyer is apt to forget the exact number sold of any particular book, and if the salesman is able to point out, on the spot, that his order on the salesman's former visit for a certain book was a given quantity, and that since then the buyer had ordered on such and such dates certain other quantities, the total amounting to blank dozens or hundreds, the buyer will not only be assisted in making his calculations on further orders, but will very likely be flattered besides in being led to think that his particular interests are being looked after so carefully. An order book of this kind, if properly kept up to date, should be useful to the salesman in many ways, namely, in keeping informed on his customer's line of trade, his capacity, etc., as well as serving as a guide to the salesman's work, in making comparison of business done currently with that of former years, etc.

In this connection we may touch on the subject of building up and increasing orders. Elsewhere we have spoken of the advisability of discouraging rather than prodding certain customers to order beyond their capacity. This advice still holds good. But there are buyers whose tendency is to order the smallest possible number of certain standard lines notwithstanding the fact that they are likely to need more in the future. Very often, too, a buyer who has so many items to think of may actually be in the position of not knowing at the moment what he does want. In such cases it will be well to allow the buyer to go through the lines without interruption, and after he thinks he has exhausted the list to return to those of which he may have ordered under his needs, or to those he may have overlooked altogether, and endeavor to build up or order the lines passed by. The whole art of suggesting and building up orders is a very interesting one, and when properly studied and developed will enable the traveller to materially increase his returns.

* Continuation of the series of "The Profession of Bookselling." A list of authorities quoted will be given on conclusion.

WEBSTER'S DICTIONARY SUITS.

I. & M. Ottenheimer, of Baltimore, on September 27 filed an answer in the United States court to the bill brought against them by the G. & C. Merriam Company, of Springfield, Mass., for an injunction to prevent the defendants from publishing Webster's Dictionary. In the answer it is contended that the copyrights on the book have long ago expired and that the name "Webster's Dictionary" is now common property. Hochschild, Kohn & Co., against whom a similar suit was brought, also filed a similar answer, making similar denials of liability. Both defendants deny that the Merriam Company has any right to an accounting for dictionaries sold by defendants.

A BOOK THIEF ABROAD.

New York bookstores have been visited during the past two weeks by a clever thief who succeeded, in a number of cases, in carrying off rare books. He was a well-dressed young man, with the swarthy complexion of a South American, and spoke English with a decided foreign accent. He generally spent several hours in each store, looking over rare books and autographs, and displaying more or less knowledge of what he handled. He would select books to the value of $200 or $300 to be sent to his address C. O. D. When the books were sent it was found that either the address given was an empty lot or at a house where no person of the name given was known. It was not until the person, who gave his name variously as Mellon, Harris, Shane and Johnson, was found pocketing expensive books, that suspicion was aroused, and that the booksellers whose stores he had visited were able to account for rare books that were missing from their shelves. Unfortunately it was then too late to cause his arrest, the thief having made good his escape. As he is likely to turn up in other cities dealers in rare books are cautioned to watch for him and secure his arrest if possible.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

Holman Hunt is said to be engaged upon a work dealing with the pre-Raphaelite movement.

M. H. Spielman, who was for years editor of The Magazine of Art, is to write the biography of George Frederick Watts.

Dr. Robertson Nicoll is authority for the report that Swinburne is engaged upon a drama, the central figure of which is Cæsar Borgia.

A biography of Charles Godfrey Leland is being prepared by his kinswoman, Mrs. Elizabeth Robins Pennell, who is also to write the authorized biography of Whistler.

Andrew Carnegie has written a small volume on James Watt, the engineer, which is to form the final volume in the Famous Scots series, brought out in this country by Charles Scribner's Sons.

It is now rumored that the official biography of Lord Beaconsfield is being written by W. F. Monypenny, at whose disposal all the papers of the dead statesman have been placed, along with those left by Lord Rowton, who originally was to write the biography.

The new edition of "Jessica Letters," which will be brought out shortly by G. P. Putnam's Sons will bear the names of the joint authors—Paul Elmer More and Mrs. Lundy Howard Harris. Mr. More was formerly literary editor of The Independent and now occupies a similar position on the New York Evening Post. A book of essays from his pen has recently come out with the Putnam imprint under the title of "Shelburne Essays." Mrs. Lundy Howard Harris is a well-known Southern literary woman whose husband has been for fifteen years professor of Greek in Emory College, Oxford, Georgia. She has been a frequent contributor to The Independent, and it was while Mr. More was connected with this paper that the "Jessica Letters" were conceived and written.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The special autumn number of The International Studio, published by John Lane, will be devoted to the French caricaturists, Daumier and Garvain.

For the benefit of those publishers who are still sending review copies to the Worcester Spy, at Worcester, Mass., we are requested to give notice that that venerable newspaper ceased publication about June 1, and books sent to its address cannot receive notice.

The Metropolitan Magazine, it is reported, is selling better on the newsstands than ever it sold before. The American News Company, for example, reordered the October issue four times within seven days of the date of publication, their actual reorders being greater than ever before in the history of the magazine. The October number is now entirely out of print.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES

A NEW play by G. Bernard Shaw, entitled "John Bull's Other Island," will shortly be produced at the London Court Theatre.

WE are pleased to notice that Joseph A. Marsh, of the American News Company, is back at his desk again after a long absence due to ill health.

A. C. MCCLURG & Co. have just ready Miss Mary B. Sanford's "The Wandering Twins," a story of the adventure of two children in Labrador.

"THE HOUSE OF FULFILMENT," by George Madden Martin, starts out with all indications that it will make a success similar to the author's first book, "Emmy Lou." The publishers announce that they had printed a second edition before the book was put on sale.

HERBERT B. TURNER & Co. have just ready "The Island of Tranquil Delights," a South Sea idyl and other stories, by Charles Warren Stoddard, told in the brilliant style of the ever-popular "South Sea Idyls;" and "The Quincunx Case," a detective story by William Dent Pitman.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. call attention to the fact that John Fiske's "New France and New England" will be published in one octavo volume, at $4 net, (postage 27 cents extra,) not in two volumes as erroneously given in their advertisement in our "Fall Announcement Number."

THE SMART SET PUBLISHING COMPANY have just brought out William Le Queux's book, "The Closed Door." It is the ancient record of one Godfrey Lovel, a follower of the historic Lucrezia Borgia, in which the author presents this lady as the victim of dire circumstances, and not as a fiend whose murders have become a by-word.

A. C. MCCLURG & Co., have just issued "The History of Negro Servitude in Illinois, and of the Slavery Agitation in that state, 1719-1864," by N. Dwight Harris, professor of history in Lawrence University. This book was originally written for the University of Chicago as a portion of the work required for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy.

WILLIAM JENNINGS BRYAN in a recent issue of The Commoner quoted at large from a little book by William George Jordan, entitled "The Majesty of Calmness," published by the Fleming H. Revell Company, calling attention particularly to the chapter entitled "Failure as a Success," and recommending it to the more keenly disappointed among his followers.

JOHN MURPHY COMPANY have just issued "An American Missionary," a record of the work of Rev. William H. Judge, S.J., who went through untold hardships in the far Northwest, especially during the gold fever in the Yukon and Alaska. Cardinal Gibbons has written the introduction, in which he dwells specially upon the enthusiastic missionary spirit of Father Judge and the tone of cheerfulness which characterizes all his letters.

G. W. DILLINGHAM COMPANY will publish on November 1 "Samantha at the St. Louis Exposition," by Josiah Allen's Wife, (Marietta Holley.) "Samantha" has been immortalized as a wit, philanthropist and statesman all in one, and this book, filled with humor, pathos and sense, told in her own captivating country dialect, which she speaks regardless of her surroundings, will no doubt be read with interest. The volume will be profusely illustrated.

THOSE who have been interested in the discussion created by "The Woman Who Toils," written by Mrs. and Miss Van Vorst, are probably not aware that Miss Van Vorst is an appreciative art critic as well. Brentano's have just issued in Paris a work from her pen entitled "Modern French Masters," treating of Puvis de Chavannes, Jean Charles Cazin, Rodin, Paul Albert Besnard, Steinlen. Brentano's, New York, are agents for the book on this side.

HARPER & BROTHERS will publish on the 12th inst. Catherine Cecil Thurston's much-discussed new novel, "The Masquerader," which, under the title of "John Chilcote, M.P.," has been having a sensational serial run in Blackwood's and the London Daily Mail; "The Sorrows of Sap'ed," a new humorous book by James Jeffrey Roche; also, "The Blue Dragon," a new book for boys, by Kirk Munroe, who has drawn upon China for his material in this book.

THE AMERICAN BOOK COMPANY have just ready "Commercial Law," by D. Curtis Gans, of the Rochester, N. Y., Bar, assisted by Samuel C. Williams, teacher of commercial law in the Rochester Business Institute; Robbins and Sommerville's "Exercises in Algebra;" answers to "Exercises in Algebra;" key to Pearson's "Latin Prose Composition;" and Calderon's "La Vida es Sueño," with notes and vocabulary by William Wistar Comfort, instructor in romance languages in Haverford College.

THE late Lafcadio Hearn, the day before his death, passed, by cable, the final proof of the last chapter of his new book. It was a singularly dramatic ending of a life unusually full of dramatic incidents, that he should have finished his most ambitious analysis of the Japanese the very day before he died. His new book, "Japan: an Attempt at Interpretation," will be published at once by the Macmillan Company. This interpretation of the Japanese, their history, and their place in the modern world has peculiar timeliness.

L. C. PAGE & Co. have just brought out a work on "Rome," by Professor Walter Taylor Field, in two volumes, uniform with their Travel Lovers' Library. The author's position as Professor of Ancient History in the University of Chicago, and his knowledge of Rome, derived from his own visits there, make him peculiarly fitted to write of the charms of this city with sympathy and understanding. The illustrations are chosen from photographs selected by Professor Field while abroad, and are unusually excellent.

DANA ESTES & Co. have just ready a new book of poems by Frederic Lawrence Knowles, entitled "Love Triumphant," which has been declared by several who read the book in manuscript, Louise Chandler Moulton among them, to be incomparably finer than Mr. Knowles's first volume, "On Life's Stairway," which, by John Burroughs, was pronounced "the most fresh and original book of verse that has come to my hand in many a year." The volume is attractively gotten up and has a cover design by Marion L. Peabody.

JAMES POTT & Co. have in preparation a work entitled "Napoleon's British Visitors and Captives, 1801-1815," by John G. Alger, who gives a spicy description of the Englishmen who disported themselves in Paris after the Peace of Amiens and of those who, after the peace was broken, lingered in La Ville Lumiere and were trapped and became detenus for a long period of years. The book may well become a reference volume when information is desired on notable foreigners whose good or bad fortune it was to come under the notice of the first Napoleon.

E. B. TREAT & Co. have just ready "Diseases of the Stomach and Intestines," by Boardman Reed, of Philadelphia, a series of eighty-two lectures complete in one volume; "Blood Pressure," by Louis F. Bishop; and "Saline Therapy," by Professor Dr. Carl von Noorden, the fifth in the series of "Disorders of Metabolism and Nutrition." In their other specialty of religious books they have "Sunday Evening Problems," by Rev. J. L. Hill; and "Fraternal and Benevolent," by Rev. Franklin Noble. There is also ready a new edition of David Gregg's "Makers of the American Republic."

THE REILLY & BRITTON COMPANY, Chicago, are making special window displays of "The Marvellous Land of Oz," L. Frank Baum's new book, of which upwards of 40,000 copies have been sold since July 5. Recently the Siegel Cooper Company, of New York, for two weeks gave up one of their large double windows to this attractive and amusing display, a photographic reproduction of which is printed in their advertisement in this week's issue of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY. A similar display in the Philadelphia store of Wanamaker's at times blocked Chestnut Street. Dealers who wish to make arrangements for special displays of this book should apply to the publishers.

BRENTANO'S have in press a unique work on art entitled "Visits to the Louvre." The work treats of Italian and Spanish paintings only, and is made up of notes by Dr. Arthur Mahler, of Prague, in collaboration with Carlos Blacker, of Paris, and W. A. Slater, of this country. The book will contain twenty full-page photogravures and about one hundred and fifty-six half-tone illustrations, giving examples of the most famous pictures. They will bring out shortly an authoritative work on the game of Bridge by Edmund Robertson and Hyde-Wollaston, called "Bridge Developments." It will deal largely with the theory of the game, and will be very fully illustrated, with actual specimens of hands held and correct leads.

HENRY FROWDE, of the Oxford University Press, is about to publish in two volumes, of which only 240 copies will be offered for sale, an exact facsimile of the original English edition of the German Popular Stories collected by the Brothers Grimm. All the illustrations by George Cruikshank which appeared in the First and Second Series of the Stories, issued in 1823 and 1826 respectively, will be reproduced, and these will be printed from the original plates. Ruskin in his "Elements of Drawing" declared that the etchings in these two volumes were "the finest things, next to Rembrandt's, that, as far as I know, have been done since etching was invented."

LITTLE, BROWN & Co. will publish to-day a new popular edition of "The Golden Windows," a book of fables for young and old by Laura E. Richards; "Morning Thoughts to Cheer the Day," a volume of quotations selected and arranged by Maria H. LeRow; "The Little Book of Life After Death," from the German of Gustav Theodor Fechner, translated by Mary E. Wadsworth, with introduction by Professor William James; "The Story of Rolf and the Viking's Bow," by Allen French, author of "The Junior Cup," etc.; "The Alley's Cat's Kitten," by Caroline M. Fuller; "The Child at Play," little stories for little folks, illustrated in color, by Clara Murray; and several other books of which notice appeared in last week's issue.

THE forthcoming portion of the Oxford English Dictionary is a double section of Volume VI., edited by Dr. Bradley. It records 3175 words between M and Mandragon, with 12,855 illustrative quotations. The verb "make," with its unparalleled variety of shades of meaning and multitude of idiomatic uses, has naturally required to be treated at unusual length. The article occupies upwards of eleven pages, each consisting of three long columns, or slightly more than the space given to the verb "go," which has till now been by far the longest in the dictionary. The most striking characteristic, from the etymological point of view, of the portion of the English vocabulary here treated is the unusual abundance of words derived from names of persons and places.

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS have ready this week John Fox's new book, "Christmas Eve on Lonesome," a collection of stories that picture the humor, pathos and tragedy of life in and near the Kentucky mountains. The volume contains illustrations, printed in colors, by Schoonover, Ashe, Campbell, Potts and Keller. They will publish on the 15th inst. the new Gibson book, entitled "Everyday People." The book will equal in size and resemble in general appearance last year's very successful volume, but will be even a more important accomplishment. There will be a larger proportion of full-page drawings than in any former book, and many of them are among the maturest and most thoughtful, as well as the most subtly humorous, productions of Mr. Gibson's pencil. They will bring out later in the month Robert Grant's powerful novel, "The Undercurrent," with illustrations by F. C. Yohn; "The Memoirs of Madame Du Barry," by H. Noel Williams, uniform with the author's "Memoirs of Madame De Pompadour," etc., fully illustrated; also, a new edition of William Elliot Griffis's authoritative work on "Corea, the Hermit Nation," to which much new matter has been added, bringing the information up to the present day.

THE AMERICAN NEWS COMPANY have just brought out their "Illustrated Catalogue for the Holiday Season of 1904." In 230 octavo pages are listed quite fully the new and popular books; the calendars for 1905, embracing blocks, drops, leaflets, etc.; the color gift booklets ranging in price from 5 cents upwards; the board juveniles in all grades and at all prices; the indestructible color books, movable pictures, novelty books, fine art books for children and cloth juveniles; popular twelvemos in a dozen or more series; popular handbooks, standard sets, Bibles and prayer books, etc., in fact, all that will be needed in bookstores this fall. Outwardly this booksellers' vademecum has also been made most attractive, the covers being illustrated with embossed designs in colors of seventeen of the latest novels, Ogilvie's "Webster's Imperial Dictionary" and a copy of the Bagster Bibles. The catalogue, which may be had free on application, should be on every bookseller's reference desk.

ELLIS & ELVEY will shortly publish "The Poems of Dante Gabriel Rossetti, with illustrations from his own Pictures and Designs." The book is "edited, with an introduction and notes, by W. M. Rossetti." The same publishers issued some little while ago Dante Rossetti's translation of the "Vita Nuova," with his illustrations, but the present is the first instance in which the original poems of the author have been thus combined with his pictorial works. Several sonnets were written by Rossetti for the express purpose of setting forth the subject-matter of his pictures. The edition will be in two volumes. One is to be published this fall, and the other may follow not long afterwards. The poems here printed are the full general bulk of Rossetti's work; some few outlying specimens are not reproduced, but three or four, as yet unknown, will be added. The notes give far more information than is to be found in any previous issue. There will be ten illustrations in vol. I., including "The Day-Dream," "The Blessed Damozel," "The Girlhood of Mary Virgin," "Proserpina," etc.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY have just ready two volumes of some of the best of Edgar Allan Poe's short stories. One of these is entitled "The Gold Bug," and contains "The Gold Bug," "The Unparalleled Adventure of One Hans Pfall," "The Murderers in the Rue Morgue," "The Mystery of Marie Roget," "The Purloined Letter," "The Cask of Amontillado," and "The Fall of the House of Usher." The other volume is entitled "Arthur Gordon Pym," and contains Poe's tales of adventure in the South seas and elsewhere. Both volumes are sympathetically illustrated by A. D. McCormick. They have just brought out for the younger readers "The Book of In-Door Games for Young People," by J. K. Benson, with over 400 illustrations, which in addition to all the known indoor games has also several chapters devoted to making toys, puzzles and to conjuring. They have also published "The Wallypug in Fog-Land," by G. E. Farrow, whose name has been associated with "The Wallypug of Why" and several other books, with illustrations by Alan Wright; and "Glyn Severn's School Days," a story of experience by George Manville Fenn, illustrated by Charles Pears.

C. M. CLARK PUBLISHING COMPANY, Boston, will publish on November 1 "Hope Hathaway," the new novel of Western life by Miss Frances Parker, the author of "Margie of the Lower Ranch." This work will be illustrated with stirring Western pictures by Charlie Russell, the "cowboy artist," who never before has turned his pencil to the illustrating of a book. Those familiar with his work will no doubt be gratified by the opportunity to secure artistic reproductions of these pictures as the publishers are giving a set of eight with every copy of the first five thousand edition of "Hope Hathaway." The interesting coincidence has been discovered by the head of the C. M. Clark Publishing Company—Carro M. Clark—that she is a lineal descendant of one of the characters of "My Lady Laughter," by Dwight Tilton, which is shortly to be published by her firm. In reading the opening chapters Miss Clark was surprised to find among the most conspicuous characters of the romance Dr. Joseph Warren, the hero of Bunker Hill, who, as it happens, is an ancestor of Miss Clark in the direct line on her mother's side. The portrait painted by Dwight Tilton of the sturdy patriot is reported to be decidedly gratifying to his descendant.

HENRY T. COATES & CO. announce for the fall three volumes of interest to lovers of fine art books and works of description of countries. One of these is Théophile Gautier's charming account of Russia, translated from the French and brought down to date by Florence McIntyre Tyson, illustrated with fifty photogravures. The other two are "France, Historic and Romantic," and "Switzerland and the Rhine," both by Joel Cook and each beautifully illustrated with photogravures. Besides these they will publish "Completed Proverbs," by Matthewman and Dwiggins, uniform with "Crankisms," "Brevities," etc.; "Good Form for Men," a guide to good conduct on all social occasions, suggestions as to correspondence, etc.; also "A Forest Drama," a novel, by Louis Pendleton. For the younger readers they will have "Cromwell of Virginia," a story of Bacon's Rebellion, and "The Last Emperor of the Old Dominion," both by Edward S. Ellis, forming volumes 2 and 3 of the Colonial Series; "Up the Forked River," a tale of adventures in South America, and "Teddy and Towser," a story of the early days in California, both by Seward D. Lisle; "By Love's Sweet Rule," a story for girls, by Gabrielle Emilie Jackson; also, "Our Boys in Panama," a story of the forests of the great canal, by Hezekiah Butterworth. Each of these volumes will be fully illustrated. They are also announcing new editions of some of their standard publications, such as their one-volume edition of Shakespeare's works, edited by Charles Knight; the "Fireside Encyclopædia of Poetry," edited by Henry T. Coates; the "Children's Book of Poetry," also edited by Mr. Coates; Lamb's "Tales from Shakespeare," edited by the Rev. Alfred Ainger; "Wood's Popular Natural History;" Knight's "Half Hours with the Best Authors," etc. Their New Acorn Library of popular and standard works now comprises 123 titles of world-famous books, carefully printed on excellent paper and substantially bound in cloth.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted" book-trade subscribers are given the privilege of a free advertisement for books out of print, of five nonpareil lines exclusive of address, in any issue except special numbers, to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents a line, and amount should be inclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents a line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents a nonpareil line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter

All other small, undisplayed, advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents a nonpareil line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

Parties with whom we have no accounts must pay in advance, otherwise no notice will be taken of their communications.

BOOKS WANTED.

☞ In answering, please state edition, condition, and price, including postage or express charges.

Houses that are willing to deal exclusively on a cash-on-delivery basis will find it to their advantage to put after their firm-name the word [Cash].

☞ Write your wants plainly and on one side of the sheet only. Illegibly-written "wants" will be considered as not having been received. The "Publishers' Weekly" does not hold itself responsible for errors.

It should be understood that the appearance of advertisements in this column, or elsewhere in the "Publishers' Weekly" does not furnish a guarantee of credit. While it is endeavored to safeguard these columns by withdrawing the privilege of their use from advertisers who are not "good pay," booksellers should take the usual precaution, as to advertisers not known to them, that they would take in making sales to any unknown parties.

The Top Of The List

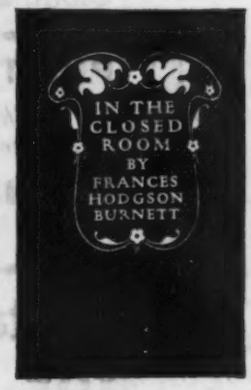

Fall Books

McClure, Phillips & Company N. Y.

The twenty-five books we publish this Fall are the best of a tremendous number considered.

These below, judging by orders received to date, are the best of our list.

MRS. FRANCES HODGSON BURNETT'S first story of child-life in ten years is the finest gift-book of the season. Eight four-color illustrations by Jessie Willcox Smith. Toned paper, wide margins, decorated in color. Green binding, gold top, $1.50.

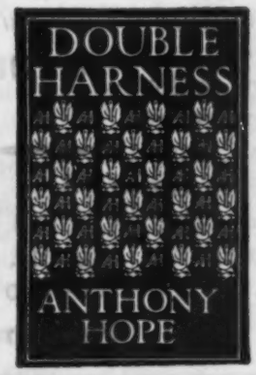

Children will read it for the fairy-ghost story of a little janitor's daughter—as delightfully told as "Little Lord Fauntleroy." Grown-ups will find a heart-reaching tale of a little lost child and the borderland between the spirit-land and ours.

STEWART EDWARD WHITE'S popular serial in The Outlook is now printed as a companion volume to "The Forest." Fifteen illustrations by Lungren "on the spot." With frontispiece in color. Net, $1.50. Postpaid, $1.64.

A story of "good company" on a pack-horse trip in the Sierras. Not only nature-lovers and adventure lovers, but everybody who likes a good time will like this book.

ANTHONY HOPE'S great novel of married Londoners is now, before publication, in its second large edition. Romantic, like "Zenda;" sparkling, like "Dolly;" 'way ahead of both in human interest. Cover beautifully blind-stamped. $1.50.

The London Bookman says: "Many will count this a greater book than any that has made its author famous—for here Mr. Hope comes home to the full realities of human experiences."

Blazed Trail Stories. By STEWART EDWARD WHITE. Third edition before publication. $1.50

The House of Fulfilment. By GEORGE MADDEN MARTIN. Second edition before publication. $1.50

IN ACTIVE DEMAND

Ehrmann's "A Prayer"

It will interest the trade to know that we have been flooded with orders for "A Prayer," by Max Ehrmann (25c.). A copy of this beautiful prayer is in the Indiana building at the St. Louis Fair.

The "Tribune" says:

"That one Terre Haute author will be better known after the fair is over is certain. Judge Davis said that while he was in the Indiana building for a few minutes, at least a dozen people made copies of Max Ehrmann's 'Prayer.'"

If you hang up a copy where folk can see it you will sell hundreds this holiday season.

PULITZER SAYS:

"A man doesn't know how to live until a woman has taught him, and then it often happens he prefers to live alone."

"CYNIC'S MEDITATIONS"

75 cents

Mary J. Lincoln's "What to have for Luncheon"

has now reached the second edition. Not a bad record for a fifteen day old book! We are going to make our advertising so interesting that every lady will want a copy for Christmas. Watch our advertising in the "Ladies' Home Journal" and other papers. The best book on luncheon. Illustrated with photographs.

Cloth, $1.25

Mother Stork's Baby Book

The best record book of a baby's life. Verses by Eugene Field and Stevenson. About a hundred pages, fully illustrated, twelve hand-colored pages. Second large edition now binding.

Cloth, $2.00; Silk, $3.50

PULITZER SAYS:

"The one certain thing about woman is her uncertainty."

"CYNIC'S MEDITATIONS"

75 cents

Petals of Love for Thee

By Edith Hall Orthwein is ackowledged by the trade to be the best holiday gift book issued this year. 10,000 copies were demanded for the first edition. Keep enough of this book on hand so as to save express charges and telegrams later on.

Cloth, $2.00; full leather, $3.50

PULITZER SAYS:

"A friend in need is a friend——we usually shun."

"CYNIC'S MEDITATIONS"

The Season's Hit

Orders continue to pour in for "A Cynic's Meditations." It has made a big hit. Judging by reorders dealers seem to sell stock as fast as received.

Parchment, 75 cents

To the Trade

The American Standard Revised Bible published by Thomas Nelson & Sons is the only edition authorized by the American Revision Committee whose indorsement appears on the back of the title page.

Professor Ira M. Price describes it as "The most perfect English Bible in existence" in an article in the Sunday School Times of August 20, 1904.

This edition is used by leading ministers of all denominations, both in pulpit and study, and used exclusively as a text book in many of the best colleges.

It has now been tested in practical use for three years and the demand is greater than ever before.

BOOKS THAT COUNT

Seldom does a publisher have the privilege of bringing out on the same day such a group of books as we have ready this week.

MR. KIPLING'S NEW VOLUME

"Traffics and Discoveries" is, of course, the publishing event of the season, and the first 10,000 were sold out on the day of publication. It contains the much-discussed story "They," which The Bookman says is "in many respects one of the loveliest and most exquisite of Kipling's imaginative creations,"—besides the following stories:

The Captive
The Bonds of Discipline
A Sahib's War
Their Lawful Occasions
The Comprehension of Private Copper
Steam Tactics
"Wireless"
The Army of a Dream
Mrs. Bathurst
Below the Mill Dam

($1.50)

RECOLLECTIONS AND LETTERS OF GENERAL ROBERT E. LEE

received from one to three columns of notice in all the most important newspapers on the day of publication. It's the most intimate picture (from the General's son) yet published of the hero of the Confederacy—the type and embodiment of all that is best in Southern Life. (Four photogravures, net, $2.50. Postage, 25c. extra.)

THE EAGLE'S SHADOW

is by a new author, but we are willing to guarantee that you'll be well acquainted with the name of Mr. James Branch Cabell before long. It's an irresistible comedy, fresh, sparkling, and ingenious. (First printing exhausted on publication. Illustrated, $1.50.)

THE HILLS OF FREEDOM

is by Joseph Sharts—a most amusing tale of a dictatorial old General who has determined that his son and his ward shall marry. The young people put their heads together to defeat his plan—with surprising results all around. (Illustrated, $1.50.)

CAMERA SHOTS AT BIG GAME

by Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Wallihan, with an introduction by Theodore Roosevelt, is the most remarkable collection in existence of photographs of deer, antelope, mountain lions, elk, bear and so on. This is a revised edition with added pictures, at a lower price. (Profusely illustrated, net, $5.00. Postage, 21c.)

THE

Publishers' Trade List Annual

1904

This volume, as heretofore, includes the new catalogues and lists of the year—three hundred and twenty-six in all—and supersedes the previous issue. The price of this volume of over 5000 pages is $2, (cloth bound, with Denison thumb index), and there is no guide to books which furnishes so much information at so low a cost.

NOW READY

THE COMBINED INDEX, 1903-1904

The new Index, combining in one alphabet supplementary material for 1903 and 1904, will make a volume of nearly 500 pages, and the price, instead of $2.50 as originally announced, will therefore be $3, except to subscribers whose remittances at $2.50 are received before publication day of the Index, September 15th. This alphabet is supplementary to the original Index of 1902, and the Combined Index (covering the original 1902 Index and the Supplementary 1903–4 Index) can be had at $7—or previous to September 15th, at $6.

Bibliographic Publications.

For all American books as they appear, take THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY; for an hour's glance each month at the important books and magazine papers, take LITERARY NEWS; for library matters take THE LIBRARY JOURNAL; for magazine articles in general, consult THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX; for books in print or issued of late years, see THE AMERICAN and ANNUAL CATALOGUES, also, the indexs to the PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL for 1902, 1903 and 1904.

THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY. Established in 1872, with which was incorporated the American Literary Gazette and Publishers' Circular (established in 1859.) Recognized as the representative of the publishing and bookselling interests in the United States. Contains full weekly record of American publications, with monthly cumulative indexes, etc. Subscription, $3.00 a year, postpaid; to foreign countries, postpaid, $4.00 a year: single numbers, except special numbers, 10 cents, postpaid.

THE LIBRARY JOURNAL. Official Organ of the American Library Association. Chiefly devoted to library economy and bibliography. Established in 1876. Published monthly. Subscription, $5.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 50 cents. Price to Europe, or other countries in the Union, 20s a year; single numbers, 2s. (LITERARY NEWS is sent free to subscribers of THE LIBRARY JOURNAL.) Teachers may be interested in the "School Number" published in the spring of each year.

GENERAL INDEX TO THE LIBRARY JOURNAL, vols. 1–22, 1876–1897. Arranged to serve as an index to succeeding volumes or for other sources of professional information. 4°, in sheets, or paper binding, $2.50; A. L. A. half leather, $3.00.

LITERARY NEWS. A Monthly Journal of Current Literature. Contains the freshest news concerning books and authors; lists of new publications; reviews and critical comments; characteristic extracts; sketches and anecdotes of authors; bibliographical references; prominent topics of the magazines; portraits of authors, and illustrations from the newest books, etc., etc. Subscription, $1.00 a year, postpaid; single numbers, 10 cents.

THE AMERICAN CATALOGUE of books in print and for sale July 1, 1876, compiled under the direction of F. LEYPOLDT, and its supplements, 1876–84, 1884–90, 1890–95, and 1895–1900, compiled under the editorial direction of R. R. BOWKER, aims to present all the bibliographical features of the books in the American market, arranged in the first part alphabetically by both authors and titles, and in the second part alphabetically by subjects.

The Catalogue and its supplementary volumes form the only approximately complete guide in existence to the American books of the day, so arranged as to make refe ence easy from whatever direction the inquiry may come, whether from that of the author, or the title, or the subject. It not only furnishes the desired information about any particular book of which the consulter is in search, but shows what others there are by the same author or on the same subject in which he is interested. To the bookseller, therefore, it is valuable both in filling orders and in stimulating business; to the librarian, in supplying gaps and proportioning his collection; and to all who are practically concerned with books, in furnishing information by a convenient method.

The author-and-title volume of the 1876 volume is out of print. A limited number of the subject volume may be had in half leather binding at $15.

The volumes covering the periods 1876–84 and 1884–90 are also out of print.

It also contains a directory of publishers with full street addresses. The current volume covering 1900 to 1903, inclusive. 8vo, cloth, net, $4.00

THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL. Contains: The latest catalogues of upwards of 300 American publishers. These lists, all bound in one volume arranged alphabetically for ready reference, with marginal index, guiding the finger at once to the right letter, present in their combination so convenient and time-saving a working-tool as to make it indispensable to every one who has any interest in the purchase or sale of books. Large 8vo, cloth, without index, net, $2.00; with Supplementary Index, 1903–'04. 2 v., 8°, net, $4.50.

INDEX TO THE PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL, 1902, contains an index, by author, title and subject catchword to the lists of the 246 publishers represented in the Catalogues volume of the PUBLISHERS' TRADE LIST ANNUAL for 1902, furnishing by means of 140,000 entries, ready reference to the books of the leading publishers in print July 1, 1902, and to forthcoming books of which they could furnish information in August of that year. 1 v., 8°, cl., net, $5.00. Supplementary Index for 1903–'04. 1 v., 8°, cl., net, $2.50. The two volumes bound in one, $6.

THE ANNUAL LITERARY INDEX, including Periodicals, American and English; Essays, Book Chapters, etc., with Author-Index, Bibliographies, Necrology and Index to Dates of Principal Events. Edited, with the coöperation of members of the American Library Association and of The Library Journal staff, by W. I. FLETCHER and R. R. BOWKER. 8°, cloth, $3.50.

THE AMERICAN EDUCATIONAL CATALOGUE. Contains a price-list of all the text-books in use in the United States, arranged alphabetically by author's or editor's name, and a detailed subject-index, referring from each specific subject to authors of books on that subject. 8vo, leatherette, 50 cents.

THE ENGLISH CATALOGUE [Annual] giving full titles classified under author and subject in one strict alphabet, with particulars of the size, price, month of publication, and name of publisher of the books issued in Great Britain and Ireland, in the calendar year, being a continuation of the "London" and "British" Catalogues. NOW FOR THE ADVERTISING OF

THE PILLAR OF LIGHT

By the author of "The Wings of the Morning"

Readers of the New York Sun are often said to have the "Sun habit." Tracy's last story was advertised in The Sun, and Tracy suited its readers so much that "The Wings" appeared in it serially.

26 good sized advertisements of "The Pillar" will appear in The Sun during October. Of course our old friend The Times gets copy, too. Out in Chicago, down in Boston and elsewhere the advertising guns are already firing.

Have you noticed how "The Pillar" began to sell before a dollar was spent in the papers?

Let me have your order. Read a few chapters of the book, and sell your share.
